MASS COLOR PLANTINGS

No Iris make a finer color show than these extra early sorts. Try these along your entrance drive or in your front yard where they can be seen from the street or road and they will cause drivers to slow up, and please all who pass.

PLANT SUSA—We think this one of the finest sorts our good old time friend Hans Sass originated. It is the very earliest tall sort and is a bright velvety red purple.

GOLDEN WEST—Is a big and bold true and brilliant yellow.

ABELARD—Is also a large and showy blended rose. Do not confuse these fine modern Sass sorts with common old intermediates.

We will guarantee you will be pleased if you will try out a mass color show of the above three sorts, and you can have this distinctive display at small cost.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

All Iris orders amounting to $3.00 or more will be shipped prepaid to any point in the United States. Iris orders of less than $3.00 must include 25 cents for postage. Foreign shipments not prepaid.

We send all Peonies by express, transportation charges collect. This enables us to be liberal with extras and large plants. However, all customers will receive good value.

Terms: Cash with order. Payment should be made by check or postal money order. All offers subject to prior sale; prices may be changed without notice.

GUARANTEE

We Guarantee all stock to be true to name, of first class size and quality, free from diseases and pests, and to reach you in live and healthy condition. We cannot guarantee that plants will live and grow in your garden under conditions over which we have no control.

We take every precaution to prevent mistakes in filling orders, but if any mistakes should occur, we will gladly make adjustment; however, we will in no case be liable for an amount greater than the purchase price of the stock.

IRIS CULTURE

Irises are not particular as to soil, but the bearded varieties in general prefer an alkaline rather than an acid soil. They need plenty of sunshine and good drainage and are able to withstand severe drought if well established. Beardless and crested sorts, including the Siberians and Spurias, do best in an acid soil with plenty of moisture, also some kinds need partial shade. Bearded Irises should be planted with the tops of the rhizomes level with the top of the ground, except in the case of late fall planting when they should be more deeply covered to prevent heaving.

TIME TO PLANT

Bearded Irises may be transplanted any time in the spring, summer or fall, but we strongly recommend fall planting for the South and Middle West where summers are usually hot and dry. Further North the summer months are the best time for transplanting. Unless we are otherwise instructed we will assume that our customers want immediate shipment of their orders. Prompt shipment will be made except when digging is delayed by rain or other causes over which we have no control. A few of the very newest varieties of which our stocks are limited will not be delivered before August. Beardless Irises will be shipped in the fall or early spring.

Increased cost of labor, advertising, paper, boxes, packing and postage makes it impossible to dig, clean, pack and mail small collections without losing money, hence we will try to solve this problem by giving more quality and less quantity. Now we can discard and plow under more of the older and poorer sorts and give more valuable time to better and newer sorts, and this gives our customers better value.

PRICES—If any of our early season prices are out of line just figure that we will give you good value on every order. Why give valuable space, land and labor to grow old cheap varieties. Put the same money in a smaller number of higher quality and have increased satisfaction.

Hill Iris Introductions will be found listed on Page Sixteen at greatly reduced prices. Their reception and increasing popularity are a great source of gratification.

We lead in Fall Blooming Irises and Dwarfs that continue their well dressed gain in popularity. Favorable seasons have brought an abundance of fall bloom to many delighted gardeners. In the South the Fall Bloomers are practically everblooming.

SELECT IRISES

In cooperation with the American Iris Society we are listing our Iris according to the latest revised classification—Tall Bearded, Intermediates, Border Iris, Fall Bloomers, Dwarf Bearded, Pogo Cyclus, Siberian, Spurias, Miscellaneous. The Border Iris now include those formerly listed as Table Iris and also low growing Iris from the tall bearded section. In the following descriptions the letter S refers to the standards or upright petals, F refers to the falls which are the lower or hanging petals. A self is an Iris of uniform color, a bicolor has standards of one color and falls of a deeper shade, a plicata is a light or white flower marked or stippled with a darker shade particularly on the margins, a variegata has falls of red, brown or red-purple and yellow standards, an amoena has white standards and colored falls, and blend is a combination of two or more colors. Intermediates are early flowering sorts resulting from crosses between tall bearded Irises and dwarfs. The first intermediates were intermediate in size, height and season of bloom, but the newer ones are as large and tall as tall bearded varieties.

FALL BLOOMING IRISES

We are proud to take some credit for popularizing Fall Blooming Irises, an important new branch of the Iris family. Several years experience in handling fall bloomers has shown conclusively that they will produce two crops of bloom per year over a wide area of the country. They are at their best in the South where they furnish an almost continuous succession of bloom. In fact a Southern customer reports at least one bloom open every day in the year from one of our collections. However, with care and attention fall bloom can be had as far North as New England and some of the Northern states. Last fall we had a fine show with many hundreds of blooms, beginning in September and lasting until freezing weather in November. The fall bloomers are of unquestioned hardiness even in the North and are of value for their color to the intermediate season. New varieties are adding to the color range and bringing increased size and height. Good growing conditions and adequate moisture throughout the growing season produce the rapid growth necessary for maturing the second crop of bloom. Frequent transplanting is advisable as crowded plants do not have a chance to rebloom.

We are much gratified to see that a new Fall Bloomer of Mr. Smith's Fall Day has been honored among the 100 best, and we have the hope to see it bloom this year, but we are very sorry to learn from Clint McDade that he has lost all his stock of the new blue Encore, and that we probably have all the stock of this fine sort. It gave us the longest season of summer to fall bloom last year and we regard it as a very fine addition to the true blue rebloomers.

AUTUMN ELF (Brown, 1935)—This variety has re-bloomed throughout the summer and fall in the originators garden in Massachusetts. Standard olive cream, domed and ruffled; falls lavender with cream edge, flaring, fragrant $0.25

AUTUMN KING (H. Sass, 1924)—The real progenitor of the race of rebloomers. Typical lavender blue bicolor of splendid form, a good seed bearer -----$0.25

DWARF BEARDED IRISES

The new Arenaria Hybrids have proven such a fine addition to the real miniature group that these are well worth special mention. Besides having brilliant colors that are so important in mass plantings, these have wide extended falls which gives them the new quality of being good to look down on or examine closely, and the plants increase quite rapidly and after being established give a solid mass of bloom. These come in the early or real miniature section D. B. E., but the D. B. M., or medium section, is just as important and we now have a late blooming section D. B. L. which with the Dwarf Remontants, D. B. R. cover the fall season.

Hemerocallis

We consider ourselves very fortunate in having been the first to cross Russell's Painted Lady on the taller and wider branched Sass sorts, as this cross is yielding larger and taller reds, and we can now announce that finer and larger reds are here. We have many fine reds with brilliant colors, some of these coming from Fulva Rosea have been poor growers and most all have been small with only a few approaching the size, stateliness and wide branching of the best yellow and golden orange sorts. Our new reds, in addition to being more impressive in size, are attractive in color and have good form and substance, so they seem to offer fine material for going on with this marked improvement. In the true orange color we still fall short. These deep golden yellows seem to need more red pigmentation. The true orange color has proven elusive in Iris breeding and if there is a true orange Iris I have never seen it, but the color of Orange Beauty and Valiant seem a nearer approach to it, and I have great hopes that some day we can have a real orange Hemerocallis. There has been more rapid progress in the fine habit of reblooming in Hemerocallis and we can now report constant rebloom for nearly 100 days. Some of these rebloomers may be like the Iris, hybrid in character and not so given to seeding. To go on with but pollen is more often potent in the hybrid Hemerocallis than in Iris.

GROWING GOOD HEMEROCALLIS

To those fortunate enough to live in Iowa or Nebraska and adjoining sections where the soil is deep and rich, the process of growing good plants is comparatively simple, and Hemerocallis are naturally strong growers and prodigious increasers. But to those less fortunately located on poor prairie soils, some complications appear. Even on our poor soil the most of these plants grow well and give fine bloom.

A wise selection of varieties offers the best defense against failure. I was recently amused by a reference to "these poor weak sisters." This appealed to me because of our experience in growing some Hems, and I will mention only one: Fulva Rosea. We have had it for years and cannot grow it profitably because, for us, it grows so poorly that it often fails to give any annual increase, and gives stems about 18 to 20 inches with poor small flowers and little branching. We know of course that this grows and blooms better in other sections, but have not thought it wise to use it in our breeding.

Too deep planting is injurious to plant growth, and if you have any plants that turn yellow and fail to send up vigorous new growth, you should at once examine to see that the root and crown are not too deep. Two inches below the surface is ample and much more than that will often mean little increase and poor stems and bloom. Vigorous growing sorts will often stand this punishment and send up new growth nearer the surface, but slow-growing sorts will make little growth and may even die.

Too deep cultivation too close to plants is sure to cut off or mutilate new stolons that often push out several inches to each side of a vigorous plant.

Trying to grow seedling Hems too close to a large Elm tree has been an expensive lesson to us. Our usual hot dry spell killed practically all seeding 40 to 50 feet from that big tree. Later we cut the Elm down when in full leaf, cut the twigs off the limbs, and spread them between some newly planted Hems. These we covered with earth, some rocks, and later oak leaves, sawdust, rotten stumps, logs, etc., and more earth. Later in the fall we made several trips to the timbered hillside bluffs to gather leaves and leafmold which we unloaded between our rows in layers anchored with earth.

We use pulverized limestone in liberal quantities to spread over the leaves and earth and now that these plants are safely tucked in with a protective mantle of snow we sprinkle ashes from our old fashioned wood fireplace up and down the long rows. Both the limestone and ashes help to hasten the decay of any mulch material into valuable plant food. It is quite doubtful that the ordinary gardener would be justified in spending so much labor to spread mulch.

Mulching does away with all cultivation by tractor or team. Close observation of clean cultivation for several years convinces me that this process alone will wear out our good land, and soon make hardpan of poor prairie soil.

This mulch craze is in the experimental stage with us, and our usually tolerant neighbors may think we have gone entirely bug-house with hauling rock onto clean cultivated land!

ALTISSIMA—This is described by Dr. Stout as the tallest known Memerocallis and nocturnal in habit. I have thought of its value as an evening or night bloomer, but as the young plants bloomed here last season I am not impressed with its value, but it should bloom more nearly normal this year and we will reserve judgment ----- $2.00

AURANTICA MAJOR—Big open flower of fine form ----- $0.50

APRICOT—Best of the early ones $0.50

ARABY—Mellow chamois tone with brown eye tone, 24 inch, strong --- $0.50

BOLD BEAUTY (Hill-Son, '46)—This is a very large flower that is so wide branched that it makes a fine mass show with several blooms open on wide branched stems that bloom up to 48 inches. Close at hand it seems penciled with many marks but at any distance it seems a medium red self, and is a strong growing plant and another Painted Lady seedling and plain smooth flowers $10.00

INDIANOLA (Russell)—Bright mahogany red with red eye tone ----- $2.00

CONSTANCE (Hill-Son, '46)—“He that is of merry heart has a continual feast,” and this astonished us by flowering continuously for nearly one hundred days, each of three plants starting a second strong stem before the first had finished blooming, and then a third came on before the second had waned. The petals are of bright red and some measured full 2 inches wide. The sepals are yellow with a blush overlay. It is by Painted Lady from Bold Courtier and like that sort is a gay bicolor with much larger bloom and wide branched stems 36 to 40 inches. Since this unusual continuous performance came at second bloom it may be too early to pronounce this an everbloomer, but we have great hopes and the plant is very vigorous. ----- $15.00

JUARAZ (Russell)—Brilliant red that holds color -----$2.00

KANSAN (Hill-Son, '47)—A tall and broad red that is our very largest Hemerocallis and much larger than any other red we have seen. The color is medium in tone and a self with all segments gently recurving and measuring full 9 inches and much more with tips extended. Since we regard this as our best, we may overestimate its value, but would prefer to keep all the stock until we can reduce the price. Will only spare two plants this year -----$25.00

Moonbeam and Star of Gold are proving the finest of all Hemerocallis. He may be acclaimed as the master producer of all yellow, cream, gold and orange Hemerocalis. # HILL IRIS INTRODUCTIONS

Our new ones have been well received and the best have been accorded some honors by the American Iris Society. We do not announce them as world beaters, as that claim has already been preempted by a host of others. Fancy words in extended descriptions do not make the new ones bloom beautifully or grow well, and we prefer to have ours rated on their merits and we are trying to put vigor by inheritance into our sorts and account good strong growing habits and free blooming as of first importance.

AMAZON TAN (Hill-Son, '45)—Our giant golden tan that several of our good friends have urged us to name. Strong stem and vigorous plant -----$10.00

BETTY CAMPBELL (Hill-Son, 1945)—This is our new deep blue bicolor with violet blue falls and slightly paler deep blue standards on 40-inch stems with fair branching. The flower is well rounded and large, and the plant extra vigorous and healthy -----$1.00

DAINTY FRILLS (Hill-Son, 1945)—A tall pink toned blended plicata that has a neat stem and flower and is very vigorous plant -----$5.00

FLORA CAMPBELL — The neat, well rounded and modestly extended falls are really glowing in intense warm tones of red-brown and peach. The standards are a little lighter in tone with a more hazy coloring. The flower possesses unmistakable style and quality. Honorable Mention 1940 -----$1.00

CHOCOLATE CREAM (Sass-Hill, 1944)—This is the tall brown toned plicata that has proven such a favorite with all visitors for two seasons past. It is from the Tiffany series of yellow ground plicatas but has definitely brownish tones in heavy markings on a cream yellow ground. Tall and vigorous, 42-inch -----$2.00

KANSAS BOUQUET—A very free flowering plicata of good size, white heavily marked with blue, often has 5 to 7 blooms open on one stalk -----$1.00

KANSAS INGLESIDE—This warm toned brown red self named on its merit as a spring bloomer has proven a fall bloomer here and in the south but too late to rebloom in north. It is the most brilliant red tone in our early garden and blooms a long time. Plants very vigorous -----$0.30

KANSAS SUNRISE—A bright toned variegata blend displaying the good qualities of its parents, King Tut and King Midas, stylish in form and of good substance $0.50

LADY DAINY—A silvery toned white that seems to fill a definite need in a hardy, good quality white that will bloom freely every season -----$0.50

LOVELY DAY—Well branched with large blooms of splendid proportions, opens a very pale sky blue and turns cool white -----$0.50

MANYUSYA (Sass-Hill, 1944)—On one of our many annual trips to the Sass farms many years ago Mrs. Hill suggested the name Noweta, which means welcome in Delaware Indian, for this grand old Iris remains a favorite with many today. It was named and introduced in 1932 and now we are graciously allowed to name this descendant Manyusya, a daughter of the famous Polish scientist who discovered radium, and it is one of the top pinks in our garden and has the vigor and fine habits of our own introductions. Mr. Fishburn, in Bulletin 100, page 21: "Is a grand orchid pink from Noweta" -----$2.00

MELANIE—A tall rather deep pink that grows up to 45 inches and often has five blooms open at one time. It has less of the blue and orchid tones found in most pinks. The color tone is on the order of that found in the falls of Rameses. Honorable Mention in 1940 -----$1.00

MARJERY SPRINGER (Hill-Son, 1946)—This is precise and neat in form and with quite unusual purity of color in a pale blue, 40 inches, with fair branching and vigor -----$2.00

The above baker's dozen introductions represent our best named sorts after 20 years of breeding, and if you want genuine satisfaction in high quality vigorous growing Iris, order these Hill sorts. All for -----$15.00

See Dwarf Section for our own new seedlings.
